The main reason for compiling this book, apart from wanting to preserve my original assessments and set out together with them the guidelines of my teachers. I want to show the large difference that exists between my first and only teacher in Rome and the one who followed [?] him, that is [between] Cavalier Marco Benefial and my present teacher Agostino Masucci as without doubt I hold in high regard the vastness of his new ideas of composition and skilful artistry, the other lacks [--- ?] and the demonstration reveals it because he never questions my assessments and makes few changes and to observe [?] his works is to prove that I am correct since anything else is no more than a mixture composed of counterfeit art and what is characterized as deceitful and feeble, effeminate and lifeless work. It seems to me that I should explain the apparent change in my teachers. In the year 1734 I was in Lisbon my home country studying under the tuition of Sr. Francisco Vieira an excellent painter and being employed for six years with various masters I was encouraged by Sr. Caetano Pâce a Roman sculptor to come to Rome and wishing to improve myself I went [to] my Father who gave his permission and the necessary funds and I achieved everything [.] I asked Sr. Francisco Vieira to advise me who the best painter was as I did not trust my own impressions which no doubt would be wrong if I were to believe in the appearance and esteem of the princes and gentlemen who often reward those who least deserve it as they know nothing of the subject. I finally left Lisbon and arrived in Rome on 18 October 1734 and went to the said Benefial to study where I remained for seven years and enjoyed the patronage of Padre Rmo. Frei José d'Evora Minster to the King in this court. When my Father died and the said Prelate left for Lisbon I was obliged to go to Lisbon on the orders and at the expense of the said Prelate and I stayed there for two months and returned to Rome at the expense of Sr. Alexandre de Gusmão on condition that I study with Masucci in this way I was required to comply with the will of those gentlemen.

[folio 2] recto The Creation of Light (Scene from Genesis), red chalk, pen and brown ink, with grey wash, framing line in brown ink, numbered 1, captioned (above):

Este pensamento já hé enmendàdo dos dous mestres e o primeiro meu pensamento não tinha os dous meninos, e o anjo grande abaixava a cabesa ao q[ue] tivè e parecer de Benefial q[ue] Masucci era contente do primeiro. 1º pensam[en]to

[This concept has been modified by the two teachers and my first idea did not include the two boys, and the large angel bowed his head which Benefial agreed with but Masucci preferred the first. 1st concept]

verso legend for next drawing:

Este pensamento hè emendàdo de Marucci e me fes aumentar do meu; os dois meninos q[ue] [e]stão a mão direita de Deos P[adr]e e a perna direita era escondida o mais hè parecer meu. 2º pensam[en]to

[This concept is altered by Marucci and he made me enlarge mine; the two boys who are on the right hand of God the Father and the right leg was hidden[,] the rest is my viewpoint. 2nd concept.]

[folio 3] recto God commands the sea and the sky to teem with fish and birds (Scene from Genesis), red chalk, pen and brown ink, with brown and grey washes, framing line in brown ink, numbered 2; verso legends for next drawing:

Omonte atras das fig[ura]s q[ue] acaba, è contorna as memas è mal feito, è hè parecer de Benefial.

[The hill behind the figures that frames (?) and surrounds them and [is] badly done and follows Benefial's opinion.]

este pensamento foi emendado pelo Snr Massucci. Me-fes mudar os pes a D.ta p[ar]a q[ue] erão ao contrario q[ue] o direito vinha adiante o mais hè parecer meu. 5º pensam[en]to [This concept was modified by Sr. Masucci. He made me change the feet to the right so that they were the opposite of that before, the rest is my composition. 5th concept]

[folio 4] recto, God charges Adams to tend the Garden (Scene from Genesis), black chalk, pen and brown ink, with grey wash, framing line in brown ink, numbered 3; verso legend for next drawing:

L'Adamo dovrà tener la mano manche sotto il braccio dritto che fara intendere la cognitione diche Eva nacqui della sua costa

[Adam should have his left hand under his right arm which implies the understanding that Eve was born from his rib.]

[folio 29] recto Daphne changed into a laurel-tree while fleeing from Apollo (Scene from Ovid's Metamorphoses), red chalk, pen and brown ink, with red and grey washes; verso legend for next drawing:

Neste pensam[en]to devemo star prizentes as nimfas hirmans de Io trasformata em vitella.

[In this concept the nymphs, Io's brothers [or sisters?], should appear transformed into calves.]

[folio 30] recto Io changed into a cow to avoid detection by Juno (Scene from Ovid's Metamorphoses), red chalk, pen and brown ink, with grey wash; verso blank

[folio 31] recto Mercury beheads Argos (Scene from Ovid's Metamorphoses), red chalk, pen and brown ink, with grey wash; verso blank

Neste pensam[ent]o não deve-lo corresponder, ao afasto furtivo de Jupiter, e afim não deve ter os braços enlaçados ao Pescopo, e as nuvens deve ser nevoas

[This concept should not correspond to the furtive distancing of Jupiter, and thus he should not have his arms clasped around Pescopo, and the clouds should be misty]

[folio 33] recto Diana and Callisto (Scene from Ovid's Metamorphoses), red chalk; verso blank

[folio 34] recto Study of the Head and Torso of Christ on the Cross, red chalk; verso blank

[folio 76] recto blank; verso blank

[folio 77] recto blank; verso legend for next drawing:

este pensam[en]to foi emendado em diversos modos, finalm[en]te finalm[en]te e meu parecer, pois o Snr Masuci pertendia q[ue] Susana recorrese a D.t na tentação dos velhos, mas me parece a mim q[ue] em semelhantes ocaziões cada qual se defende querendo salvarsi. Benefial aprovoou

[This concept was changed in several ways, finally according to my way of thinking, as Sr. Masucci held that Susanna should recoil to the right from the temptation of the elders, but it seemed to me that on similar occasions each one defends himself as he thinks fit. Benefial agreed.]

[folio 78] recto Susanna and the Elders, red chalk, brown ink, with grey wash, framing line in red chalk; verso legend for next drawing:

este meu pensamento já hè émendado pello Snr Agostinho Masucci e a emmenda, foi mudar ò pão de Jupiter, e fes me engrandecer a figura di Licaone trasformado em lohbo. O parecer de Benefial leverà na seguinte. 3º pensam[en]to

[This concept has already been altered by Sr. Agostino Masucci and in altering it he changed Jupiter's garment and made me enlarge the figure of Lycaon transformed into a wolf. Benefial's opinion concurred with the following. 3 rd concept.]

[folio 79] recto The Banquet of Lycaon (Scene from Ovid's Metamorphoses), red chalk, pen and brown ink, with red wash; verso legend for next drawing:

este pensamento hè parecer de Benefial, e querendo eu fazer o painel delle fiz a fig[ura] de Licaone vestida de Rei e Jupiter o pus a sentàdo p[ar]a mostrar che hum [--- ?] nao nessecita levantarse p[ara] castigar os deos e tambem istoria melhor a composiçao. 4º pensam[en]to

[This concept is Benefial's opinion, and as I wanted to depict the scene I portrayed the figure of Lycaon clothed as a King and Jupiter seated to show that a (?) does not have to rise up to punish the offender and also this would improve the composition. 4th concept.]

[folio 80] recto The Banquet of Lycaon (Scene from Ovid's Metamorphoses), red chalk, pen and brown ink, grey and red washes; verso blank

pertencente ao Sr. Almirante Carlos Braga’.

⁴ ‘Possui o Sr. Almirante Carlos Braga, do Porto, uns álbuns ou, melhor direi, cadernos, de desenhos dum estudante de pintura em Roma, como se vê dos dizeres do frontespício dum deles. No caderno datado de 1741 encontram-se reproduções de monumentos italianos, quase todos de Roma, e nas quatro últimas folhas vêem-se representados: o convento de S. Francisco de Vinhais, pormenores de figura do mesmo convento, a ponte de Murça e numa sanguínea, o Castelo da Feira. Nas páginas anteriores aos desenhos de Vinhais e de Murça está escrito por mão do desenhista a nota do que representam. Mas na página anterior ao desenho do Castelo da Feira não há nota nenhuma. Parece que o autor sabia bem o que reproduzia, sem necessidade de pôr-lhe a indicação. Por três maneiras escreve o seu nome este artista: – “João Esterbele”, no referido frontespício (talvez italianizando o apelido alemão) – “João Stroberle” e depois “João Glama” – explica uma nota escrita com a sua própria letra...’

⁵ ‘Este desenho, cuja fotografia se publica, deu-nos, também, conhecimento da verdadeira localização da ermida de Santa Luzia.

Embora a reprodução não esteja muito clara, pode-se ver que, na generalidade, a estrutura exterior da capela e casa anexa é sensivelmente igual à de hoje, verificando-se que aquela está encimada, no seu topo mais alto, por um motivo que me parece semelhante àquele que ainda existia na primeira década deste século, como se vê das fotografias que se publicam.

Tem duas pirâmides nos topos superiores dos cunhais da sua face poente, onde está praticada a porta de entrada, como ainda hoje se verifica.

A casa anexa, da sacristia e andar superior, também se apresentam com estrutura semelhante à de hoje.

No desenho não vejo reproduzida a escadaria de acesso àquele andar, hoje habitação da guarda, parecendo que a parte da muralha, onde ela hoje encosta, está livre.

A omissão pode ser atribuída ao pintor, mas também se pode admitir, para não falar de defeito de fotografia, que o acesso à parte superior se fizesse interiormente a partir da sacristia, ou pela parte traseira, do que ainda há vestígios.’
